Mexican wholes afers in McAllen who have done a heavy business with the other side of the regretaring large shipments of all kinds of mericandise. No ammunition will be allowed to cross the line, and each consignment wild-be searched scrupulously, but the Carrangistas will be permitted to fit out their army with every other to fit out their army with every other eral men suspected."

It was a gala evening in Hidalgo tonight. This was not only because of the reopening of traffic across the river but because the provisional troop of non-commissioned officers of the First New York Cavalry, which has been on the border since Tuesday for instructions in patrol work by regulars, gave a fare-well party to Company M and Troop D of the Third United States Cavalry,

It took two upstate medical contingents to show that the New York militia is capable of such efficiency, the Second Field Hospital of Albany, under Major Louis H. Gaus, and the Fourth Ambulance Company of Syracuse, under Capt. Jefferson B. Latta.

They were scheduled to leave at noon. At 11 o'clock the bagsage and equipment went on board, and an hour later the train of day coaches left for McAllen, Tex., by way of Buffalo. The railroad company assured the commanders that sleeping cars will be supplied for both contingents just this side of Buffalo.

Adjt.-Gen. Stotesbury visited Camp Whitman to-day on several matters, particularly the question of pay for the men. To date none of the men has received a cent from either the State or the Federal Government, The Adjutant-General said this is due to the fact, that the payrolls have not been made out by the company clerks and commanders.
